POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Gone but not forgotten are the soldiers, sailors and marines from California who have shipped out to far places leaving their world behind them.

Veterans of World War I in the State Legislature are doing a thorough-going job of taking care of the affairs of their comrades of World War II during their absence—and a program of veterans' legislation is taking shape at Sacramento which will ease many of the bumps for service men when they return to civilian life.

Taking steps to protect returning service men from being blocked in seeking employment by union regulations, Assemblyman Lee T. Bashore of Los Angeles has authored a bill making it a misdemeanor to compel a war veteran to join a labor organization in order to obtain employment on a public works project.

Another bill—by Assemblyman Earl Desmond of Sacramento—would make the earnings of Californians in the armed forces exempt from the state income tax during their periods of service and would give them six months after their return in which to file returns on any other income on which they may owe a tax.

Still another bill, introduced by Assemblyman Don Field of Los Angeles, which has already been passed and signed by Governor Warren, exempts insurance left by veterans of the present war from the state inheritance tax.

There are also several bills pending to grant veterans of this war the $1000 exemption on personal and real property taxes now enjoyed by veterans of World War I.

Also introduced, and fairly certain of enactment, is a measure to give men in the armed forces, when they return, a 10 per cent preference in civil service tests for jobs in state government.

Perhaps the most important veterans' project launched at the current legislative session is embraced in Senate Bill 558, by Senators Hatfield, Tenney, Quinn, Luckey, DeLap, Powers and Ward, calling for a $30,000,000 bond issue to inaugurate a new Veterans Farm and Home Purchase Program for California men of this war. Patterned after the highly successful program for veterans of the last war, the measure is designed to help service men in reestablishing themselves in civilian life by enabling them to buy homes or farms with very small down payments over a period of years.

In Congress, meanwhile, there is also a drive for national legislation to aid veterans and their families, including proposals for vocational education, for liberalization of insurance benefits, for the care and education of war orphans, et cetera. It is not expected that bonus legislation will be proposed until the war has ended, but present sentiment in Washington indicates that a liberal bonus program will ultimately be enacted.

AMERICA BOMBS

"It's a cinch bombing Germany," declared crew members of the American large scale air attack on the German naval base of Wilhelmshaven. This was the first all-American blow at Germany proper struck last week. At the same time, RAF flyers bombed Copenhagen aiming for the shipyards of the Danish capital now working for Germany. That night, bombers struck at Lorient and Bordeaux, on the south French coast. Both at Wilhelmshaven, when the Americans struck, and at Copenhagen where the English worked, the aim was one—the submarine building that has worked such havoc for our supply line, downed so many oil tankers.

"DON'T WASTE OUR MONEY"

An open letter that appeared recently in a metropolitan newspaper addressed to "Dear Senator" and signed by John and Jane Smith, Middleville, U. S. A., points out two very important aspects of the people's war effort.

"We know you have to think in big sums and spend a lot of money for the war," the letter reads, "but, try and remember how hard Mother and I worked to buy $200 worth of bonds.

"Dont' let them throw our money away or waste even a little. A wasted million dollars won't save any soldiers' lives. And it will hurt five thousand families like ours who sweated it out in bonds and taxes.

"And listen, Senator, don't worry about whether we're going to cooperate or not. We've given Uncle Sam our boys, our businesses, our money, and all our confidence, and if you think anybody that will give this much is going to quibble about a gallon of gasoline or a can of beans, when you took the train to Washington you left all your common sense on the platform back here."

"CURRENT "INTOLERABLE" STOPPAGE

In a world war and in the face of desperate fuel shortage, 25,000 anthracite coal miners have laid down their tools and gone out on strike. The issues?

The miners want a wage increase of two dollars a day and they are protesting an increase of fifty cents month in dues of the United Mine Workers.

Secretary Ickes, as solid-fuel administrator, has denounced the wartime stoppage as "intolerable."

Labor union leaders have declared against strikes for the duration of the war. Machinery has been set up to deal with disputes. Yet these strikes go on and on.

CHINA VIEWS

The Chinese have now been at war with Japan since 1937. Japan is intrenched in Asia, from Manchuria to Burma, as a continental power, and it will take a continental offensive to oust her. Fortunately long stretches of the Chinese coast are in the possession of Chinese guerilla troops. Thee areas, though blockaded by the Japanese navy, remain potential bases for air and sea attack against Japan. When sufficient Allied aid can reach China, she will throw her millions of men and years of Jap-fighting experience into the recapture of the Burma Road. General MacArthur spoke recently of the possibility of massive co-ordinated air and land attacks rather than a slower "island by-island" conquest. More attention to the Pacific theatre is discernible since the Casablanca Conference.

ENCOURAGE THE TAXPAYERS

Stripped of all political camouflage, Congress faces two inescapable duties in formulating future tax policies.

First, a tax law must be perfected which will provide a practical method for millions of individuals who never paid taxes before, to pay taxes on income as earned.

Second, the tax structure must not destroy productive enterprise and profit, thereby eliminating tax income for the government at its source.

This will not be so difficult to do if politics can be eliminated from the formula.

LIVING UP TO TRADITION

The medical profession hasn't done a lot of talking about the "sacrifices" its members are making. And yet doctors, perhaps more than any other group next to the service men, are making real sacrifices in this war. Thousands of them have voluntarily given up their practices. They live in the fox-holes with the soldiers. They fight and die with the navy and the marines. They perform miracles amid blood and suffering. Gone is the business for which they spent so many years in preparation, often on a financial shoe string.

The doctors left at home are making sacrifices too. Men who should be enjoying the leisurely aftermath of useful careers are back in harness working at a killing pace. They are on duty 24 hours a day—and they don't yell for time-and-a-half when Mrs. Jones is having a baby at 3 a. m.

The doctors are carrying out the tradition of American medicine in every emergency. Their example might well be followed in other fields.

The official poster on "Victory for Brotherhood" the theme of the tenth annual observance of Brotherhood Week, Feb. 19 - 28, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Protestants, Catholics, and Jews of the nation are joining in the observance which symbolizes the unity essential to victory, and the cooperative good-will necessary to post-war reconstruction. This anniversary of Brotherhood Week will be observed as part of the February programs of army camps, naval bases, schools, colleges, universities,service clubs, churches, trade unions, civic clubs, fraternal orders, women's clubs, civilian defense and other groups.

Garden Forum to Meet Feb. 27

The San Jose Garden Forum will present another colorful program at the luncheon meeting to be held at Hotel Sainte Claire on Saturday, Feb. 27.

S. B. Show, regional director of the United States Forest service will give the second in the series of lectures on the "Conservation of Natural Resources," being sponsored by the Forum. His talk will be augmented by a sound picture in technicolor "Wood for War," and an interesting display of materials now being manufactured from wood.

Miss Katharine Davis will be presented in two groups of songs accompanied on the piano by Jean Long. Miss Davis who hopes for an operatic career, has an exceedingly beautiful coloratura soprano voice She has been in training for the past three years with Mrs. Fred Shepherd of Saratoga.

A number of residents of this locality have been regular attendants of the Forum luncheon meetings since its inception at the beginning of this war, when they were organized by Mertha Rice, as an aid to community morale. Brilliant and colorful programs have distinguished the meetings and have established a record attendance from all parts of the valley. Reservations must be made well in advance for this luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Smith were called to San Luis Obispo yesterday by the sad news that their son, Albert, who is a railroad brakeman, had met with an accident in which his leg was injured so that it had been amputated below the knee.

Gladys Larson has been elected president of Allenian Society, social campus organization of San Jose State. Miss Larson, a junior home economics major, will serve in this capacity for the remainder of school year. Installation of officers was held last night at the Allenian house on South Eighth street.

The Sigma Sigma club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Dunton in Willow Glen, with Mrs. Myrrl Block as cohostess.

A telephone message from Mr. Smith stated that he was progressing satisfactorily and that fear of possible infection was past.

THE BOOK MARK
by marty

"The Valley of Decision" by Marcia Davenport.

Mrs. Davenport has been at work on this book for the past five years. By the way, the author is a daughter of the late Alma Gluck, and is the wife of Russell Davenport, editor of "Life" magazine.

This novel is Mary Rafferty's story. In the year 1873, not quite sixteen and wearing her first long skirt, Mary rang the side-door bell of the Scott mansion in Pittsburgh, and began work as 'tween-maid" in the household of the stern and bearded ironmaster. Mr. Scott was an industrialist, dealing in the manufacturing of steel. The Scott family was a large one, and Mary Rafferty at once fitted into their routine. She was one of quite a huge family herself, having had the responsibility of the household several years since the death of her mother. Now that the other children had grown enough to take care of themselves, Mary left home to make her own way—a dream dear to her heart becoming a reality.

In time the story spans almost seven decades of American life—from the eve of Black Friday to the present time. Four generations of the Scott family move across its pages. In the book you meet drama, romance, the clash of violent temperaments, the rise and fall of business, all of it dominated by the little girl who rang the side-door bell of the Scott mansion in the year 1873.

The author has again, as in her former successful novel "Of Lena Geyer," created a character, endearing and precious, one that rushes right into your heart and becomes real and alive.

Remarks by readers:

"I read until 2:30 this morning on that book. Although a huge book for me, I became so lost in the story that time flew by."

"It is a long story, but I wish it were longer. I read every word of it."

"The best book I have read in many months."

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller are parents of a boy, Richard Allen, born Feb. 3, at O'Connor sanitarium.

George Thomas has returned to civilian life after several months in the army. He was stationed at Camp Robinson, Ark.

"Wake Island" to Be Presented at Local Theatre

Since the famous Dec. 7th when Japanese war planes roared out of the blue Pacific to deliver their treacherous blows at Pearl Harbor, Wake Island, Guam and Midway, there have been many motion pictures, radio programs and novels dealing with the war. They have thrilled and inspired us to punch harder still in our efforts to wipe the Japs and their Axis co-criminals off the face of creation. Such a picture is "Wake Island," coming to the Campbell Theatre Feb. 14-15-16, and for its making we salute Paramount. It is a great tribute to heroic men against insuperable odds.

The film tells the heroic story of that gallant band of Marines who held their tiny speck of Pacific sand for 16 days against everything the Japs could throw at them from land, sea and air. It tells the story in a manner that makes you grit your teeth and vow to take Toykyo apart in little pieces and throw it to the sharks—and it's a powerful film that can make anger flame to white heat.

"Wake Island" does more than that. Based on authentic records of the United States Marine Corps and of the Navy, it shows the weak defenses of an island that should today be a jumping off spot for our assault on Japan herself. "Wake Island" points a moral and a resolve. Never again will Americans be caught unprepared by treachery.

We defy you to see it without puffing out your chest just a little and saying proudly "I am an American!"

Principals in this mighty pictures are Brian Donlevy, Macdonald Carey, Robert Preston, Albert Dekker, William Bendix and Walter Abel.

Also coming to the Campbell theater on Feb. 21, 22, 23, is Walt Disney's super production "Bambi."

His injuries were received last Nov. 19, when a company auto crashed into his car on the Almaden road at the Rancadore ranch driveway.

Smith's attorney is Martin S. Walsh.

Paul Robeson has distinguished himself as an actor, a screen succes, and on the concert stage. He is not only an outstanding figure of his own race, but one of the greatest living baritones and American vocal artists.

Robeson's first success was as an actor in "Emperor Jones," "All God's Chillun," "Porgy" and "Show Boat." His "Ole Man River" in "Show Boat" immortalized the song and made Robeson's name known from coast to coast.

Tickets for the Paul Robeson recital are on sale at the auditorium box office, Columbia 7087.

Following Paul Robeson, Robert Casadesus, the great French pianist, will play the fifth concert of the series,appearing on March 12.

Hudson Expresses Appreciation

Let me take this opportu$nity to express my appreciation to the people of the community as well as the high school students for the fine cooperation given by those who have served at the observation post. We have made an enviable record and I feel sure you will want to keep it up. It is at such an observation post that people, who do not go into direct defense service, can contribute their bit to the winning of the war. Let me commend you for your fine spirit and ask of you to get behind this 100 per cent and it will be easy for everyone.

Respectfully,
Herbert Hudson.

More Men from Campbell at Farragut, Idaho

Many men from Campbell have reported for duty at the U. S. Naval Training Station at Farragut, Idaho, for preparation to fight our enemies on the seven seas.

Among the men who have just reported are: Leslie Charles Gagliasso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gagliasso of Parr avenue; and Richard Levern Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver of Harrison street.

Their first few weeks in the uniform of a blue jacket will be devoted to learning the fundamentals of seamanship. Physical hardening will also be an important part of the training, as the men of the fleet must be in peak physical condition. Living in the mountains of northern Idaho, on the shores of Lake Pend Oreille, they will soon be ready for further specialized training in a Navy Service school or duty with the fleet at sea.

INCOME TAX INFORMATION

Who Must File A Return

Every single person must file a Federal income tax return whose gross income for the year from all sources was $500 or more; that is as much as $9.62 per week. Widows, widowers, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent, are classed as single persons.

Every married person, living with husband or wife throughout the year, must file a return if his or her gross income, together with any income of the spouse, was as much as $1200 for the year; that is, as much as $23.08 per week. If husband and wife both have income, they must both make a return. Such return may be made separately, or, if they are both citizens or residents they may make a joint return. A joint return may be made by husband and wife even though one has no income, and a joint return is advisable in the case of persons, one of whom has no income, who marry during the year, since the personal exemption attributable to each spouse during the period of pre-marital status is allowable in a joint return.

A joint return must be signed by both husband and wife and verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury.

Where separate returns are filed by husband and wife on Form 1040, the joint personal exemption allowable ($1200 where the married status has existed throughout the year) may be taken by either, or divided between them in any proportion agreed upon. If separate returns are filed one may not report income which belongs to the other, but must report only the income which belongs to him (or her).

No person is exempt from filing a return if his gross income is equal to or greater than the amount specified.

Moreover, all income from whatever source, unless specifically excluded by statute, must be reported in the return. The types of income specifically exempt are listed in the instructions accompanying the return form.

A person whose gross income does not exceed $3000 and consists wholly of salary, wages, dividends, interest, or annuities, may make a Simplified Return on Form 1040A, in which the tax due may be readily ascertained by reference to a table contained in the form.

A husband and wife living together on July 1 of the taxable year may file separate Simplified Returns if the gross income of each is from the prescribed sources and does not exceed $3000, or they may file a single joint return on that form if their combined income is from the prescribed sources and does not exceed $3000. A taxpayer may not, however, file a Simplified Return if the other spouse files a return on Form 1040.

Our 2000th is a Woman

SINCE PEARL HARBOR more than two thousand proud "good-byes" have been said to employees of this Company entering the military services.

Early this month it was "good-bye and good luck" to Miss Violet Hooe of the Service Department in Oakland. When Miss Hooe enlisted in the SPARS—United States Coast Guard—she became the two thousandth employee to join up.

In July, 1942, William J. Hickey, steam plant engineer, changed to Navy blue as Boatswain's Mate—Second Class. At that time he was the thousandth employee who had gone to war.

Two thousand young men and women means at least one out of every six of this company's employees are now on war duty. Two thousand means an average of one hundred and fifty employees each month have gone "on assignment" to the most important job in the world today.

Good-bye and good luck. When the job of beating the Axis is finished—come back to us. Your service record, your job seniority and your interests in the company's old-age retirement plan will be preserved intact and waiting for you. That is the farewell pledge of your company.
